

There are ways to show respect in the community, at your house and in school. The reason why you need to do these things is because it makes the world a better place if you do show respect.

In school you could show respect by opening the door for someone or listening to the teacher. Some other ways to show respect in school is to pick up trash or when you get mad or you need help instead of yelling at someone use polite language. If the teacher tells you to do something you need to do it. The ways you could show respect at lunch in school is to not throw food or other things at the lunch table because if you throw food that would make a mess. When you make a mess someone has to clean it up and that is just wasting food and time.

At home you could show respect by using kind words to your mom and dad like please and thank you. You could also show respect at home by having good manners like not chewing with your mouth open. You could also show respect at home if you do something wrong instead of lying and being mad about it you could just say sorry and move on from it. At home if you have siblings you could help them out if they need it. You could also help your mom or dad if they need help. Also if someone like a parent or your grandma or grandpa tell you to do something you should do it. You could show respect at home by saying kind things and helping your siblings instead of hurting your siblings and also don't hurt their feelings either.

The ways to show respect in the community is to pick up trash if you see any because if you don't then you could hurt animals because they could get stuck and get injured or die. You could also help people that need help. Or if there is a new kid at your school you could help them with their work or show them around the school. Or if they do not have any friends yet you could be their friend or ask them to sit by you at lunch. Or you could ask them if they want to play with you during recess. You could also help someone like your sibling or someone that is sick to get better. You could also do nice things to the environment by not throwing trash or any thing that could hurt the environment on the ground. You should not smoke or vape because if you smoke or vape it puts bad pollution in the air and could hurt animals and humans. If you are fishing or swimming at a lake, oceans, pond or rivers make sure you throw your trash away because if that trash gets in the water it could hurt the animals that live in the water.

Remember to make sure you are respectful to the community, your school and your home because it could hurt someone or something if you are not careful.
